About Denise

Denise Bertacchi is a respected voice in the 3D printing community and a Contributing Writer for Tom's Hardware. Her expertise in additive manufacturing is evident in her thorough 3D printer reviews and engaging coverage of industry news.

Denise's passion for 3D printing is infectious, stemming from her own exploration sparked by a family STEM project. With a background as a newspaper reporter and STEM-focused craft blogger, she excels at bridging the gap between technical details and practical applications.
